U.S. ARMY ALL-AMERICAN BOWL DID YOU KNOW?

- The Bowl includes the U.S. Army National Combine and the U.S. Army Coaches Academy.
- More than 200 former U.S. Army All-Americans are on 2013 NFL Opening Day Rosters, with more than 450 playing football collegiately.
- Six U.S. Army All-Americans were selected in the first round of the 2012 NFL Draft, including Andrew Luck, who became the first alumnus to be drafted first overall. In all, 22 alumni were selected. 2010 saw a record 38 Bowl alumni drafted, while the 2007 NFL Draft set the pace with nine alumni selected in the first round. The 2013 NFL Draft saw 8 former U.S. Army All-Americans selected in the first round.
- The all-time leading scorers in Bowl history are fullback Brian Toal, running back Chris Wells, and quarterback Tajh Boyd, who each scored three touchdowns in the 2004, 2006 and 2009 game, respectively. Toal and Wells scored each of their three on the ground, while Boyd scored his through the air.
- From great coaches come great players, the following father and son tandems have both coached and played in the Bowl: father Ted Ginn Sr. (2006) and son Ted Ginn Jr. (2004), father Bob Palko (2004) and son Tyler Palko (2002), father Greg Toal (2007) and son Brian Toal (2004).
- On September 13, 2009, the Jets' Nick Mangold and Mark Sanchez became the first center-quarterback tandem to have played in the U.S. Army All-American Bowl and then start in the NFL for the same team.
- The first underclassman to ever win the Heisman trophy was U.S. Army All-American Tim Tebow in 2007.
- Five U.S. Army All-American Bowl alumni have won NFL Rookie of the Year Awards: Vince Young won the NFL's Offensive Rookie of the Year Award in 2006 and Adrian Peterson won the offensive honor in 2007. In 2009, Bowl alumni Percy Harvin (offensive) and Brian Cushing (defensive) won both NFL Rookie of the Year Awards and Ndamukong Suh won the Defensive Rookie of the Year Award in 2010.
- The Bowl has had representation from both Alaska and Hawai'i. Casey Flair (UNLV) represented the Last Frontier in 2004, while Joe Fafilli (2006), Solomon Koehler (2008), V.J. Fehoko (2010), Juda Parker (2011) and Luke Kaumatule (2012) represented the island of Hawai'i.
- The five U.S. Army All-American Bowl Selection Tour teams travel the country from late September to early December to announce all 90 players and 125 marching musicians to the Bowl, logging more than a combined 30,000 miles.
- The U.S. Army All-American Bowl has already produced a five-time Pro Bowler (Joe Thomas, Cleveland Browns) and 17 Super Bowl Champions. Last season, seven Bowl alumni were named to the Pro Bowl and six collected Super Bowl rings as members of the New York Giants.
- To date, 17 U.S. Army All-American Marching Band alumni have joined the Army either through ROTC, National Guard, or regular enlistment.
- U.S. Army All-American Bowl Alumnus Adrian Peterson was the first to win the NFL's prestigious MVP Award in 2012

U.S. ARMY ALL-AMERICAN BOWL RELATED EVENTS

For 13 years, the U.S. Army All-American Bowl has been more than just a football game; it is a celebration of high school football. Since its inception, the Bowl has built programs to recognize the athletes and coaches who contribute to high school football.

2014 U.S. Army All-American Bowl Selection Tour

Date: Tuesday, September 24, 2013 – Early December, 2013
Location: Each U.S. Army All-American's high school (Band and Football)
Participation: Nationwide high school pep-rallies and football games

The Selection Tour travels to each U.S. Army All-American Bowl football player and U.S. Army All-American Marching Band member's high school to recognize them during pep rallies, high school football games and other events. The Selection Tour was created to honor and officially announce each player and band member to the Bowl. A local U.S. Army representative is on hand at each event to present the All-American with their invitation to the game. The U.S. Army representative will also invite the head football coach of each All-American to San Antonio to take part in the U.S. Army Coaches Academy.

2014 U.S. Army All-American Marching Band

Date: Monday, December 30, 2012 – Saturday, January 4, 2013
Location: Alamodome, San Antonio, TX
Time: Halftime of U.S. Army All-American Bowl
Participation: Top 125 marching musicians from across the nation

The U.S. Army All-American Marching Band will feature 125 of the nation's top high school senior marching musicians, who will perform during halftime of the U.S. Army All-American Bowl. The marching musicians will arrive on Monday and rehearse each day until their Game Day performance.

2014 U.S. Army National Combine

Date: Thursday, January 2, 2013 – Saturday, January 4, 2013
Location: Alamodome, San Antonio, TX
Participation: 500 of the nation's top underclassmen

The U.S. Army National Combine is the only national combine in the country, and features the nation's top 500 underclassman football players. The National Combine gives the nation's top underclassmen the opportunity to showcase their football skills and earn national recognition among football's most elite recruiting experts and analysts. The event consists of traditional combine and football skills testing, seminars and break-out sessions focusing on leadership, team-building, and the college recruiting process.

2014 U.S. Army Coaches Academy

Date: Thursday, January 2, 2013 – Saturday, January 4, 2013
Location: Marriott Riverwalk Hotel – San Antonio, TX
Participation: 90 of the nation's top high school football coaches

The Head Coach of each All-American selected to the Bowl, will be selected to attend the U.S. Army Coaches Academy. The Coaches Academy features top college and NFL coaches, and includes a Texas-style BBQ dinner, breakfast, seminar session, luncheon, classroom clinic, and a ticket to the U.S. Army Awards Dinner and the U.S. Army All-American Bowl.
